

"AMERICAN PERIL"
ALARMS RUSSIA

Journal de St. Petersburg Reports Commercial Advantages of United States

EVERY ELEMENT OF POWER

Country Described as Botnia Most Desirable Market and Avarful Menace to Other Manufacturing Nations.

REPLICA OF THE "AMERICAN PERIL" IN THE JOURNAL DE ST. PETERSBURG

Washington, Aug. 6.—The Nature & Power of the "American Peril" is the title of an article last week set by Mr. G. L. Bates, member of the American Agency which the Journal de St. Petersburg, an influential Russian newspaper, recently reviewed.

The Russian writer of the article made public by the Department of Commerce and Labor.

"The great American Republic," says the Journal, "is not only the most powerful of the countries of the world, its attitude is incomparable, and it is growing more toward it. One word will express its position—power; and you need not justify its organization."

"Above and over all, commanding the life of the people, is the skill and bold genius, a spirit of energy, activity, labor, perfect liberty, and equality of all the citizens."

If these are not the elements of a powerful power, it is impossible what can be done to improve them. We must work for the welfare of our country and for the welfare of the world. History itself records the course, not a month since the world's history began."

"One consideration of the position of the United States is nearer to the Mediterranean than Liverpool is to Paris. Commerce and manufacture in the Pacific Coast will increase in some way without Europe and Asia."

"It will control the commerce of the West and East, for it will do it in the simplest way."

"Thus, at the beginning of the twentieth century, America has risen to work a most glorious mission on one hand and as an active manufacturing nation on the other."

"Wealth, property, and progress have marked the epoch of the possible movements during the last decade, it continues until they obstruct us all. It is a period of intense competition among American cities, more terrible, and more pressing than the "Silkies" days."

"The peril exists, but there is no danger."

MAN OF MANY ALIASES IS IDENTIFIED IN BOW STREET

SPECIAL BY CABLE TO THE ST. LOUIS PUBLIC AND THE NEW YORK HERALD, London, Aug. 6.—(Copyright, 1904.)—Who is described as one of the strangest of voices in the judicial annals of this country has been brought to light at the Bow Street Police Court.

A man giving the name of William Thomas, but who it was said had made about 100 aliases with me and of trade connecting France, Scotland, and Ireland, a man named Adolf Barnes. He bore a strong resemblance to Thomas, suffered from all sorts of fits, and was known as "the epileptic." Barnes had been a member of the Socialist party in Germany, and had been arrested in 1898, when he was practising as an Austrian physician. Doctor Max Hirsch was held in good style keeping a carriage and servants.

Then a specimen, purporting to have been made by the prisoner in Inspector D'Oyly's office, was exhibited. It was a flask containing fluid which was identified as chloroform. The flask was broken and the liquid was found to be chloroform.

At the end of the campaign he went to America and practised as an outlet, travelling afterward all over the world in the same capacity, finally arriving in London where arrest awaited him.

BELIEVES RHODE ISLAND WILL VOTE FOR PARKER.

Chairman Quinn of State Committee Tells His Reasons for Expecting Democratic Success.

REPUBLICAN SPECIAL.

Washington, Aug. 6.—Chairman P. H. Quinn of the Democratic State Central Committee of Rhode Island and Representative Granger of that State were in the city to-day and had an interview with Chairman Cowherd of the Democratic Congressional Committee.

Mr. Quinn believes the electoral vote of Rhode Island will be given to Parker and that the New Englanders will support him, but thinks the Democrats have a fighting chance to carry the State, and a still better chance to carry both the Congress and the districts.

"Con sider that Governor Garvin was elected two years in succession after hard fought campaigns and with the changing conditions which favor us over the Republicans, you can see the basis of our expectation that we will carry the State for Parker and Davis," said Mr. Quinn.

The total vote in Rhode Island has increased this year. In 1902, the total vote of the State was something over 77,000.

This year it is 86,000, and it is undoubtedly in favor of the Democratic party, as the Republicans have been hostile to a full registration of the voters of

In Rhode Island, there is still a property qualification for voters for Common Council and Aldermen in cities and the voter registration law that is a restriction of the right of suffrage, but in the case of the national election, there is no restriction and those can register and vote.

Mr. Quinn does not, however, doubt about the election of Representative Granger to succeed himself. In the Second District, where Mr. Owen was for many years a member, we have a good chance, in my opinion. In that district there are more idle cotton mill operatives than there have been for twelve years.

The first cannot fail to have an effect on the result.

"The last time Governor Garvin ran he was elected by a majority of 1,800. I am sure that this year his majority was 6,000. It is to be seen how far those figures will be maintained in the national election."

Picnic To-Day at the Old St. Louis Fair Grounds Will Be Remarkable Because There Will Be No Place to Spend Money—Sessions of Convention Will Be Held on World's Fair Grounds and Headquarters Will Be at Inside Inn.

The picnic will inaugurate International Typographical Union Week at the World's Fair. Number 8, the local union, will be the host for this week, and if the well-laid plans are carried out, it will be the most remarkable convention in the history of the organization.

About 500 delegates will attend the convention, and the meeting will bring 2,000 visitors. Nearly all will be here by this time, and nearly all those in St. Louis will be at the picnic.

The programme for the week has been divided between business sessions and amusements, and meetings will be held in one of the halls on the World's Fair grounds, and the headquarters of the organization will be at the Inside Inn. President James M. Lynch of Scranton and Secretary Fredrick J. B. Powers of Denver, arrived Saturday and opened the headquarters. A committee has been appointed at the Inside Inn for several days to receive the incoming delegations and arranging for their comfort.

The International Typographical Union is said to be the strongest of the trade unions, because of the high degree of merit required for the work and the skill each must attain to become a member of the union. The union carries a large reserve fund and is always in a good financial condition.

Officers will not be elected at this convention, but will be chosen next May by the members at the annual meeting which was elected in 1900, while Secretary Powers has held his position nearly twenty years.

At the convention this week will be delegates from all parts of the United States, Canada, Mexico, Cuba, Hawaii and the Philippine Islands. Of this entire jurisdiction, the local branch of the St. Louis are said to be the better organized than those of any other city, and the union in a flourishing condition. Joseph A. Jackson is president of union No. 8 and James J. Early is secretary.

Then a specimen, purporting to have been made by the prisoner in Inspector D'Oyly's office, was exhibited. It was a flask containing fluid which was identified as chloroform. The flask was broken and the liquid was found to be chloroform.

At the end of the campaign he went to America and practised as an outlet, travelling afterward all over the world in the same capacity, finally arriving in London where arrest awaited him.

A TRIAL
